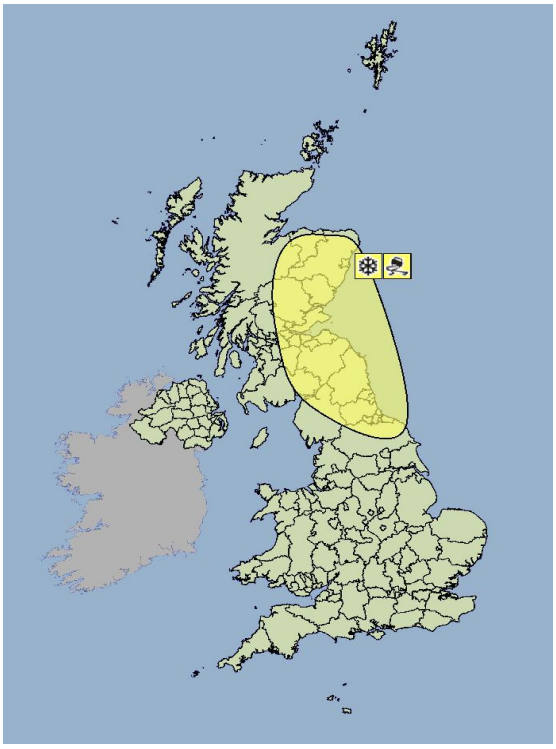
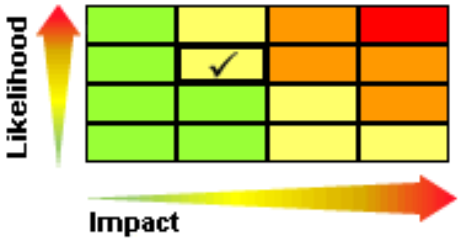
National Severe Weather Warning Service





Chief Forecasters Assessment
Rain and hill snow, accompanied by some strong winds, is expected through Saturday evening, clearing eastwards overnight. Above around 200 metres, 2-5 cm of snow may accumulate although there is a small chance of 5-10 cm falling over the Southern Uplands. As skies clear from the west overnight into Sunday morning, ice is expected to form on any untreated surfaces.

The Met Office have issued a Yellow Warning of Snow and Ice

Valid from 20:00 on Sat, 10th Feb 2018 until 11:00 on Sun, 11th Feb 2018

A spell of rain, sleet and hill snow will move east through Saturday evening before skies clear leading to ice developing on untreated roads, pavements and cycle paths. Some injuries from slips and falls are possible on icy surfaces. Some roads and railways likely to be affected with longer journey times by road, bus and train services.
